

Diversipak, Inc. CEO & Founder Speaks at Miami (OH) University

OXFORD, OH (March 3, 2020) - At Diversipak, we are always striving to give back to our local communities. Our CEO and Founder, Dan Kunkemoeller, has been guest speaking at the Farmer School of Business at Miami (OH) University for the past 10+ years. Dan shares his experience in Entrepreneurship and Supply Chain Management in order to not only help guide students in understanding what it takes to start a successful company, but also to help students determine what it is they want to do when they graduate.

Miami University

Hello!

Interested in learning from the CEO & Founder and how to start and run a company from the ground-up. Dan Kunkemoeller, CEO started DIVERSIPAK a number of years ago and he would like to discuss how he started his company and has grown it into a multi-million dollar private business. He will present interesting topics about Entrepreneurship and Supply Chain Management.
